

FATHERLESSNESS BRINGS AN ORPHAN ATTITUDE

- Deep within every mortal heart lies a created hunger for the heavenly mountains of God's presence.
- Within us the Creator has implanted spiritual instincts, tending far beyond mere physical survival.
- Animal instinct is horizontally, telling them intuitively how to relate to the world around them. There is an instinct toward procreation and survival, toward horizontal relationship and existence.
- We as human beings share that same instinct with the animals on the body and soul area.
- Man, however, as spirit beings created in the image of God, possesses instincts of an altogether different nature. Within us the Creator has implanted spiritual instincts, tending far beyond mere physical survival.
- Man's instinct is vertical, a yearning after the high, the lasting, the eternal.
- It is an instinct after growth, after betterment, after significance, after something and Someone above us.
- When in touch with the truest regions of our humanness, we seek the sky, not the earth.
- The lungs of our spirit, ache to breathe the air of eternity.
- And though mists obscure our sights, our deepest perceptions tell us there is more to existence than that which our physical eyes see around us.
- Something affirms to our innermost being that there are higher regions where we might live, where the air is cleaner, where vision is keener, where the senses come more fully alive.
- A divine restlessness exists within the innermost chambers of our spirit, stirring us with longings we cannot identify, which we futilely attempt to satisfy with bread that is not food, made from husks that are not grain.
- All men are sent to the world with limitless credit, but few draw to their full extent.
- We are created with full potential in us - a destiny - a purpose.
- With a vacuum in us, that will hunger for it; so that we can discover our birthright.
- If we defined potential:
 1. Dormant ability; reserved power; untapped strength; unused success; hidden talents; capped capability.
 2. All you can be but have not yet become.
 3. All you can do but not yet done.
 4. How far you can reach, but not yet reached.
 5. What you can accomplish, but have not yet accomplished.
 6. Potential is unexposed ability and latent power.
 7. Potential is therefore not what we have done, but what we are yet able to do.
 8. In other words, what we have done is no longer our potential.
 9. What we have successfully accomplished is no longer potential.
 10. It is said that unless we do something beyond what we have done, we will never grow or experience our full potential.
 11. Potential demands that we never settle for what we already accomplished.

- Potential is always present, waiting to be exposed.
- Why, then do so few discover the shape of that vacuum in the spirit?
- Why do so many of us resist the challenge to climb to the mountaintops?
- Because, unlike the animals, man has been given choice.
- Because of wrong choices, the enemy (satan) get legal right, and put strongholds up, bind us with that, and keep us away from victory.
- One of the lies that he bind us with is independence. It comes from the lowest bowels of the earth, not the high realms of the heavenly mountains.
- Spiritual Instinct calls upward.
- The lie forces our gaze downward to the earth.
- In believing it, we fight against our very self.
- Choice, modernism, and sin prevent us from apprehending our destiny and keep us from the destination and mountaintop sanctuary wherein we were made to dwell.
- We are God's son's. (In the spirit – no male or female). Like all of us can also be bride of Christ.
- If we are sons, we have a home with a Father. All of creation is suppose to have a home.
- A place of warmth; of comfort; of protection; where we can feel save.
- It is in a home with a Father where we find our identity.
- A place where we can run to when every thing goes wrong.
- If the earthly house is in order, with the father that gives protection, comfort, warmth and all of that, it makes us whole to discover that we also have a heavenly home, with a heavenly Father that loves us very much.
- Then we will life our lives as if we have a home.
- Let us be honest. There is not many people that life their lifes as if they have a home, or that they need to have a home.
- The world teach us to rely on the self. To be independent.
- God did not create us to be independent.
- He created us to be in and part of a family.
- To have a earthly home with parents.
- With a father that love, care, protect, provide ect.
- A father that know God, his creator and Heavenly Father.
- A Father that will live his life in such a way that he lay a fondation for the child to discover the true love of God the Father , and will discover true identity as a son (male or female) of God.
- The Christian life is not so much about the hows and wherefores of living righteously on earth as it is about first realising who God the Father is and then proceeding to love Him so much that His desires suddenly become our own.
- When we become acquainted with the heart of God by living so close to Him that we actually begin to feel His heartbeat, then it is not difficult to become the expression of His love to others around us. Without that, our attempt to love will be a struggle that we will ultimately lose.
- For years we have labored to find just the right techniques for serving God, but it is not about techniques.
- It is about a person, the person of God. Our Heavenly Father.
- It is about sonship. To find our identity as true sons. To know that we have an inheritanse. A birthright.

- When we desire to create an atmosphere where His expression can be felt and known, then He can begin to work on our behalf and reveal His power and presence with us and through us.
- The result will be that all those with whom we come in contact, will know that we are His.
- This will be true Christianity, as sons of God, being lived out in our daily lives. This will show the meaning of becoming the expression and reflection of the Father.
- We see this independent spirit everywhere. Harden hearts, bitterness, rejection, rebellion ect.
- I can do everything for myself, I do not need anybody. Cant trust anybody, but myself.
- This independent spirit or attitude don't need a father.
- A lack of hope and purpose has left many looking for temporary fixes to cover up their fears and insecurities.
- Without vision and hope, discouragement and compromise settle in.
- Do we here the voice of our loving Father or do we here the voice of the acuser and lyer more? How do we belief?
- The lie leave us as orphans. The spirit of ishmael. That will always fight against the true sons of Abraham.
- It can be demonic, that demons spirits is infaulve, or it can simpel be an attitude.
- It can be over a person, a city, or even a nation.
- We see it so clearly in the Israelites when they came out of Egipt on their way to the promise land. Most of them did not now God the Father personaly. They just heart of Him. Did not have a relationship.
- It leaves you with a feeling that you don't belong.
- Feel you are on the outside looking in.
- It has nothing to do with salvation. You can be reborn, and still suffer with it. Still feel in your spirit that you are an orphan.
- You cant cast out a heart attitute.
- You can only introduce an orphen to a father if you want him to chance attitude.
- THE CULTURAL STRONGHOLD OVER THE WORLD IS FATHERLESSNESS.
- It is increasing and increasing and increasing.
- If we alow the orphan attitude or spirit, we weaken a nation.
- It bring the bondage of slavery. If we are not a son, we are a slave.
- A slave do everything different that a son.
- That is way Israel could not posses the promise land. They were still sitting with the orphan attitude and slavery mentality. Only son's can possess.
- We are in ware today. The approach toward warfare is also different as a son toward a slave.
- If we are not in victory, the problem is not with God, it is with us.
- We sit with nations of people that sruggle to recover from an enadequid fathering.
- We are imperfect sons because of the fathers.
- You get A & B tipe of wounding from fathers.
- The B-tipe = the bad things that happen to you because of the father.
- The A-tipe = the absend things.
- Does not your heart leap at the thought of a home for your innermost spirit, sheltered from the anxieties that press upon you daily?
- Do you not long, in your quet moments, for relief from the restlessness and frustration with which life seems filled?

- Would you not rejoice to find that you might enter into a center of calm, where the intensities of today's frantic pace lose their power to make you tense and anxious?
- Consider, the waters of a deep quiet pool within you, whose calm surface the pressuring stones of life cannot disturb.
- Does not the thought of such a place cause you to sigh, "Ah, could such truly be possible for me?"
- Could such cold, invigorating, refreshing waters quench my very thirst, always renewing themselves, never running dry?
- The place from which such waters bubble forth is neither unattainable nor distant.
- To reach it will take a climb, it is true.
- And it is no quest for the faint of heart.
- Up there, in the mountains, waters stream forth from divine springs.
- It only remains for you to find the source of those emerald headwaters, and then bend down to drink.
- Buried beneath the layers of rejections; abandonment; misunderstanding; and spiritual ignorance is the person God created you to be.
- The person that craves and thirsts for living waters.
- I call your human spirit to the front and to attention in the Name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth!
- I call the slumbering spirits to wake up in Jesus' Name.
- I tell the spirit it is time to wake up. To see the high places.
- I speak to the spiritman that always turns inward to the self for answers. To look into the face of your Father in heaven.
- Father I ask that You will speak to them the truth by telling them that they are acceptable in Your sight. That You like the way that you created them.
- That You were pleased with the works of Your Hands and that You were not sorry that You created them. That You are not intimidated by the imperfection and limitations that kept them from discovering the truth. I release the truth over them in the Name of Jesus.
- Father let Your Spirit speak to their spirit in a language that they can understand.
- Open your promise for them. Cut through the lies and cut through soullessness. Cut through wrong performance. Cut through the religiosity.
- Let Your spirit speak to their spirit like never before in history.
- Let them know that they know, that they know how You are and how they are in You.
